Appearing at the Valley City Auditorium this Saturday evening at 8:00 p. m., will be the world famous St. Olaf College Choir. Tickets for this concert are on sale now in the halls and at the registrar's office here at the college.

The choir was founded by Dr. F. Melius Christiansen in 1903, and has attained world wide fame. In addition to taking an annual nation-wide tour in the United States, the group has traveled to Europe on four occasions. Their appearance in Valley City will be their only North Dakota performance, and will finish their successful tour of the western and Pacific sectors of our country.

Competition to become a member of this pioneer group is extremely keen. Members of this "a cappella" group are selected on the basis of personal character, and musical and scholastic ability.

Dr. Talbott Speaks About The Student

The goal of education should be the stimulation and development of individual intelligence. To qualify as an educated person, one must be able to think creatively, and only the disciplined individual is able to think creatively. The educational process, then, is or should be the means by which the student becomes an intellectually disciplined individual.

The first step toward becoming an intellectually disciplined person is a thorough knowledge of subject matter. After the basic language skills are learned, the first concern of the student must always be subject matter. These statements are not intended in any way to minimize the importance of form and technique. Discipline is impossible until we have mastered the ability to organize material and have become competent in the use of the tools and procedures at our disposal.

The fact of which we sometimes need to be reminded is that forms, techniques, and methods are nothing without content. The student must first be acquainted with the subject matter to be handled before the tools for handling the material are of any value to him. Prolonged study of techniques or organization becomes more and more sterile. Such studies tend to produce refinements of methods that grow less valid as the deliberations become further separated from the active consideration of subject matter. On the other hand, when form and technique are studied in close relation with subject materials, they evolve as the nature of the subject demands; then, they create an idiom and a set of working rules which make individual scholarship possible.

Actually, most of us are never going to create scholarly dissertations, but we are going to teach. Teachers, at least as secondary and advanced levels, must first be students of the materials they are teaching. A good teacher never stops being a good student; he continues to be vitally interested in the subject he teaches. A teacher who is intellectually dead is incapable of creative thought; so he has nothing to offer a student. He may have a "great" personality, but the student can experience that better outside the classroom. It is unrealistic to expect many of our teachers to produce outstanding novels, symphonies, or historical theses; but teachers, to be worthy of their positions, should be capable of approaching ideas intelligently. Intelligent understanding is a kind of creative thinking. It is the continual growth of this ability to approach ideas intelligently toward which our effort as students and teachers must be directed.

Father of STC President Dies

Theodore Lokken, father of Dr. R. L. Lokken, president of Valley City State Teachers College, died February 9 at Spearfish, South Dakota. He was 87.

Mr. Lokken had been hospitalized for the past two years, and had entered a nursing home in Spearfish in July.

Funeral services were held Feb. 12 in Hettinger, where Mr. Lokken had resided for more than 50 years. Dr. Lokken and family attended the services.

... Looking Ahead

A pair of shoes and the teacher's creed. These two seemingly unrelated items are the subject of this editorial.

The shoes, subject of a student sponsored advertisement elsewhere in this issue, are an illustration. They were stolen. The teacher's creed is a 101 word statement of the objectives of a good teacher. Both are important.

We are attending a teachers college. Most of us now attending Valley City Teachers College eventually plan to teach. With this in mind, I urge you to read, and seriously think about, the five key words printed below. In particular, contemplate the second key word and the statement following it. This, I believe, should be one of our immediate goals as students and as future teachers.

Take a good hard look at yourself as a student. Ask yourself whether or not you, as a teacher, would be proud to be the teacher of a student exhibiting the same characteristics as you now exhibit. If the answer is not in the affirmative, it's time for a change. Also ask yourself whether or not you practice what you preach. It's extremely easy to say something impressive, but matching the words with deeds is not easy.

The shoes, as I stated before, are simply an illustration. They were stolen, perhaps by a student who some day will teach others. Can this person, even if he is unknown, be called a good prospective teacher? How about "cribbing" a test? Just because everyone else does it, does this make cheating a necessity? Or Convo. Is it right to miss an official convocation just because of principle? The rule is there, and it should be followed. Would you sanction cheating or cutting a convocation if you were the individual who made the rules? Think of this for a moment. And follow through.

FAITH OF AMERICAN TEACHERS

GLADLY do I teach—for I believe in the personal worth and potential ability of every child and youth.

REVERENTLY do I teach—for the guidance of the young toward high ideals and great achievement is a sacred trust.

CONFIDENTLY do I teach—for the story of our nation and the history of mankind reflect the wholesome influence of many teachers.

HOPEFULLY do I teach—for the teaching profession is gaining in public esteem, and education is advancing toward new and challenging opportunities.

Cupid, that delightful, mysterious, yet intangible creature, has already made his entrance and his exit here at STC for 1961. He slipped seemingly unnoticed about the campus, shooting his potentially charged darts here and there, creating a wee bit of static in students' hearts that had previously been dormant. That little thrill from his arrows must have been felt by our students, because Valentine's Day found the mail boxes in the bookstore filled with cards containing sweet nothings. Even I was blessed with an admirer this Valentine's Day. To my pure delight, and, of course, thanks to Cupid, my mail box held for me, on the morning of the 14th, a heart shaped envelope. My heart tripped wildly as I grasped the precious card with both hands. My fingers shook as I, unbelievably, and with eager expectancy tore open the seal. I whispered to myself the wonderful words inside:

Roses are red,
Violets are blue,
Sugar is sweet—

I almost dropped the cards as I flipped it over to read the perfect ending to a perfect message. I practically devoured the last line:

And you could be too.

Then I choked.

Oh, well, it was a perfect prank, anyway. Besides, Cupid, you'll come back and try again next year, won't you?

STC's second annual March of Dimes campaign was a success, according to Joan Lundholm and Jan Bastman, co-chairmen of the fund raising drive.

Funds were raised by charging an extra 5c for coffee for two days at the grill, by placing canisters in various places throughout the school, and by donations received at a special convocation which featured a film, "The Bridge Between." Total received in the campaign was $158.55.

Flaagan And Hartman Teams Lead WAA BB

Winter is the season for basketball and WAA is not a non-conforming organization. Its members are half through their own basketball tournament.

At the halfway point in the Red League, Bonnie Flaagan's team was in first place, Mary Ann Engen's team in second place, Lois Weber's team was third, and in fourth place was Carol Graff's team. In the Blue League, Darleen Hartman's team placed first, Connie Cink's team was in second place, third place honors were held by Donna Spillum's team, and Carole Wall's team placed fourth.

As the tournament progresses these standings may change. Each team has one game remaining to be played, and then the respective varsity teams will be elected.

Viking Hoopsters Prepare For Tough Week in NDIC

Vern Davis fights for a rebound

Tonight, Valley City's Vikings play host to the Jamestown College Jimmies in a return engagement in one of North Dakota's biggest basketball rivalries. The Vikings will be aiming to strengthen their position in the NDIC conference race which is fast coming to a close. In the last meeting between the two schools, Valley City emerged victorious, but in this series anything can, and does, happen.

Though the Vikings' conference record is good, their victories have not been easy ones. On January 27, STC used a last half rally to defeat Minot at Valley City by one point, 69-68. With five minutes gone in the first half, the Vikings trailed 12-0, but fought back to hold leads of six points on two occasions in the second half. With three seconds to play in the game the score was tied 68-68, but a foul shot by Duane Baumgartner iced the game for the Vikings. A slow start by the Vikings proved to be the key as STC lost its first NDIC game of the year to Minot 82-61. The loss dropped the Vikings' record to 10-1, still enough to lead the conference, but putting Minot and Mayville within close range. Don Grubb led the Vikings with 16 points.

At Bottineau, the Vikings came back, powering to a 109-69 win over the Foresters. Five Vikings scored in double figures led by Bill Vasey with 26, and Duane Baumgartner and Cliff Busch with 22 points each.

Two games remain for the Vikings after tonight's encounter with Jamestown. Both are conference games and both are crucial. On February 21, Wahpeton Science meets the Vikings at Valley City, and on February 24, the Vikings journey to Mayville for what could be the deciding game in the conference race. The game at Mayville is slated to be played in the Comets' new gymnasium, and, if played, it will be the first to be played there.

STC grapplers pinned down 41 points to take the number 4 position at the fourth annual MSC eight team invitational wrestling tournament on Saturday, February 4. The Vikings were led by the MSC Dragons with 79 points, St. John's with 49 and Minot TC with 46 points. Participating in the February 10 meet were three STC seniors, Al Larson, Jack Ramey and Bill Svenkesen who are in their last year of wrestling at STC.

Al Larson, a physical education major from Kathryn, N. Dak., has a 10 win 1 loss record in the heavyweight division so far this season.

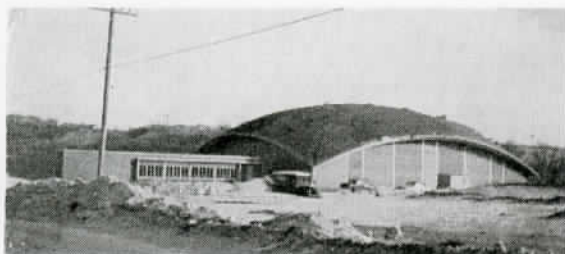

At the Moorhead invitational tournament Al took first place honors in his division. In the final match he defeated Bob Dumonceaux from St. John's University 6-0. Mr. Dumonceaux had been undefeated in the season meets until he met Larson. For the past two years, Al has been the state heavyweight champion. Al was also a three time letter winner in football for the Vikings.

Jack Ramey has a 6-1 record in wrestling meets thus far this year in his division. Jack, a physical education major from Linton, N. Dak., captured the title in the 191 lb. class at Moorhead's Invitational tournament. In Jack's final match of the tournament, he decided Ben Pulkrabeck of St. John's by the score of 10-4. ## Atheneum Society Will Present Antics

Six successful presentations of the Atheneum Antics have come and gone leaving STC students eagerly awaiting the 7th production, which will be held on April 11 in the college auditorium.

Committees are busy planning the script and working on publicity stunts among the many other assignments necessary. Talent for the show is provided by the members of the Atheneum Society.

The first "ANTICS" was presented in 1955 as a means of entertainment for society members. The show has become an annual project for the group, with the format remaining much the same over the period of years.

"Mark your calendar for 'April 11' as a date to remember—you won't regret it," say the members of the Atheneum society.

1961 Art Festival To Feature Actor

"The second biennial art show scheduled for April 11-14 will feature the appearance of Reginald Gardiner, well established movie actor," stated Mr. Carl Emmerich, director of the 1961 Fine Arts Festival.

The show will consist of two main exhibitions, a college and an amateur show. The fine arts committee has mailed entry blanks for the amateur show and reservations for the banquet.

Former plans for the festival included an appearance of Vincent Price on the program. Due to the recent cancellation of Mr. Price, the committee has contacted and signed Reginald Gardiner to fill the vacancy.

Mr. Gardiner presents humorous interpretations and anecdotes on stage. He will be the guest speaker at the Fine Arts Festival banquet the same evening as his performance.
