Deans - Important Personages on STC Campus

Miss Helen Movius-Dean of Women

Without a doubt, Miss Helen Movius is one of the busiest people on the STC campus. Dean of Wamen, Head of the English Department, and House Matron of Euclid Hall are some of the jobs that keep this gracious lady "on the go." Besides acting as counselor for all of the women students, she has time to teach classes in English, to act as advisor for the Association of Women Students and Drama Club, and to be the guiding influence for the Girls' Inter-Society Council. If anyone ever wants a bit of advice, Miss Movius is the one who will lend an ear and give them her frank opinion. The cheery atmosphere of Miss Movius's office is familiar to most STC girls.

Mr. L. H. Bruhn-Dean of Men

Equally busy is Mr. Lou Bruhn who has so many jobs that they are all classed together under one heading, Director of Special Services. Acting as Dean of Men, he is the "champion of the boys' cause." All STC graduates know him, for he is the Director of Teacher Placement—the ane who helps them to get the best job for the best pay. This jovial member of the faculty also teaches classes in social science. He is secretary of the Valley City Community Artist's Course, and, in general, is a "jack-of-all trades." Most STC'ers know him as the campus square dance caller. Always ready with a joke and a big smile—that's Mr. L. H. "Lou" Bruhn.

Division of Applied Arts Prepares Students for Future

The division of applied arts includes home economics, industrial arts, and commerce.

The first and foremost aim of the home economics department is to help individuals live a useful and satisfying personal and family life. This department offers a minor and a sequence. There are about twenty-five girls minoring in home economics.

The industrial art department's main aim is to produce capable teachers. It strives to provide students with creative experiences which will enrich their lives. Students may earn either a minor or a sequence in industrial arts.

To train high school business teachers, to provide pre-professional training in accounting and business administration and to produce efficient stenographers are the main objectives of the commerce department. This segment of applied arts offers a composite major, major, minor, and a sequence. It has one of the larger enrollments with approximately one hundred students working on majors or minors.

Miss Louise Bane, M. H. Ec., teaches all college and high school classes in home economics and is the department head. In addition, she is a supervisor. Mr. Glenn Hanna, M. S., is head of the industrial arts department and teaches both College High School and college classes. He is also a supervisor. A member of the commerce department and a teacher of social science classes is Mr. Gilmour B. Hanson, M.A. Miss Mable Snoeyenbos, M.A., is head of the commerce department and is a supervisor.

Mr. Soroos and Mrs. Kozak survey Miss Bane's newlyremodeled "cook's paradise."

Coffee time for the foculty.

Miss Louise Bane

Mr. Glenn Hanna

Mr. Gilmour Hanson

Miss Mabel Snoeyenbos

Mrs. Betty Buegel

Dr. H. Ernest Christopherson

Mr. R. Cameron Gillund

New to the STC faculty this year, Mrs. Betty Buegel, M.A., teaches classes in educa-tion and psychology. Dr. H. Ernest Christopherson, D.Ed., also teaches education and psychology classes. A doctoral candidate at the University of North Dakoto, Mr. R. Cameron Gillund is head of the psychology and education department. Miss Sena Hanson, M.Ed., is the third and fourth grade supervisor.

Mr. Harry O. Pearce, M.A., is superin-tendent of the College Laboratory School, teaches college classes in education, and supervises student teaching activities in the Lab School. Miss Ethel Peterson, M.S., is the first and second grade supervisor.

Fifth and sixth grade supervisor is Mrs. Dorothy Richter, B.S. Miss Lena Vangstad, M.A., teaches classes in elementary education and handles the placement of elementary student teachers. Mrs. Opal Wooldridge, M.Ed. teaches kindergarten, is a supervisor, and teaches college classes in education.

Mr. Murray Schwartz

Miss Lena Vangstad

Mrs. Opal Wooldridg

Mr. H. O. Pearce

Grooms for Variety of Schools

The Division of Education and Psychology has as its objective the responsibility of providing prospective teachers with opportunities to develop those broad understandings and skills which are essential to the development of the successful teacher. The teacher education program seeks to achieve its objectives through proper emphasis on general, professional and specialized education. Professional courses in education and the student's mastery of the subject matter areas of his interest are essential aspects of the program for successful teacher preparation. The Laboratory School and co-operating schools provide teaching experiences which help the student to understand the growth and development of children, through the application of principles and concepts learned by planning and working with children under trained supervision.

Since STC is primarily a teachers' college, all students have education as a major. In addition, they may further specialize and get minors or sequences in education and psychology.

"I hate kids," screams Mr. Schwartz as he performs in the faculty skit at the Viking Vanities.

Miss Vangstad and Mr. Gillund prove that teachers "can" laugh.

Dr. Christopherson chats with new fellow faculty members, Mr. Bruhschwein and Mr. Dafoe, at a faculty tea.

Registrar, Adolf Soroos, listens sympathetically to "Gabby" Gillund's problems.

Mr. Leman "talks it over" with the starting five of the junior varisty.

"Now, this is the correct finger placement," says Mrs. Peterson as she demonstrates to one of her students.

Health, Goals of Health

Mr. Vernon K. Gale, M.A., was head football coach, wrestling coach, and taught physical education classes. He was also supervisor of the boys' dorm. He left STC at the end of the winter quarter to coach at lowa State. Miss Charlotte Graichen, M.A., is head of the girls' physical education department and teaches both high school and college classes in physical education.

Mr. Dale Lemon, M.A., is a new addition to STC this year. He is junior varsity basketball coach, assists with football and varsity basketball, coaches baseball, and is in charge of the intramural program. He also teaches P.E. classes. Mr. Willis Osmon, M.A., is head of the physical education department. He is head basketball coach; track, golf, and tennis coach, and teaches classes.

Mrs. Carol Peterson, B.S., teaches classes in girls physical education, one of which is a bowling class. Mrs. Lorraine Stowman, R.N., is the college nurse.

Mr. Vernon K. Gale

Miss Charlotte Graichen

Mr. Dale Lemon

Mr. Willis E. Osmon

Physical Fitness and P. E. Department

The largest department at STC the department of health and physical education, has 115 men and 50 women majoring or minoring. The women's department aims to provide specialized training for women interested in teaching physical education in the elementary or secondary field. Background courses may also be taken for those planning to enter the fields of recreation, nursing, or physical therapy.

The men's department aims to provide opportunities for all men students to participate in athletic activities, either through classwork or through the intramural program. The purposes are to maintain or improve the physical fitness of the men and to give enjoyable leisure-time activities. A secand aim of the department is to provide training and guidance for those students selecting physical education and athletics as the field in which they wish to work or coach upon graduation.

The department offers a composite major, a major, a minor, and a sequence.

"Come on. Get in there and fight," exclaims Mr. Gale as he sits on the sidelines at one of the wrestling matches.

.", Miss Graichen ex-

"When you're playing badminton plains to her class.

Mrs. Lorraine Stowman

Strategy is in the making as Mr. Osmon explains plays to his basketball

Peter Vike, Jr., new on the faculty this year, searching for the lost chord.

Mr. Emmerich shows a part of one of his art exhibits to fellow art teacher, Mr. Charley.

Division of Language, Literatur

The division of language, literature, and art covers a very broad area—taking in art, music, English, foreign languages, and library science. It aims to foster interpretation, appreciation, and critical study, emphasizing intellectual and cultural values. In addition, it provides the technical know-how to enable the student to be able to impart his knowledge to others.

The English department offers a composite major in English and speech, and a major, a minor, or a sequence in English. There are approximately sixty students majoring or minoring in this department.

Students may earn a major, a minor, or sequence in art. This year there were thirty-one students majoring or minoring in this field.

There are approximately twenty-five musicians working toward a composite major, major, minor, or sequence in the field of music.

Minors or sequences are given in both library science and foreign languages.

> TOP ROW: Mrs. Florence Bell, Miss Vera Bollinger, Mrs. Marv Hagen Canine, Mr. Alfred Charley. BOTTOM ROW: Miss Annie Gunderson, Miss Helen Hansen, Mrs. Lillian Jacobson, Mrs. Dorothy T. Kozak.

and Art Covers Broad Area

Mrs. Florence Bell, M.A., and Miss Vera Bollinger, M.S., teach classes in literature and composition. Mrs. Mary Canine, M.A., is a speech, composition, and journalism teacher. Mr. Alfred Charley, M.A., is the art instructor in the laboratory school, teaches college art classes, and is the art supervisor.

Mr. Jack Donovan, M.M., is STC's vocal music instructor. New to the faculty this year, Mr. Carl Emmerich, M.A., is the art department head. Mr. D. W. Ferguson, A.B.L.S., is the college librarian and teaches classes in library science. Mr. Arnold Flath, M.S., is a laboratory school supervisor. Head of the music department is Mr. Arthur Froemke, M.M.

Another new faculty member is Miss Annie Gunderson, B.A., who teaches in the English department. Miss Helen Hansen,
B.S.L.S., is one of the college librarians. Mrs.
Lillian Jacobson, B.S.L.S., is the College High School librarian and teaches college classes in library science.

Mrs. Dorothy T. Kozak, B.S., another new faculty member, teaches music in the laboratory school and is the music supervisor. Callege High School English teacher and teacher of a college English class is Miss Verna Mackie, M.A.

Head of the foreign language department is Miss, Kittie Moss, M.A., who also teaches classes in English. Miss Evelyn Novy, M.Ed., teaches English and history classes. Mr. Peter Vike, Jr., M.M., a 1959 addition to the faculty, is the piano and organ instructor.

English department head, Miss Movius, and Mrs. Canine take time out for a cup of coffee and a little conversation.

TOP ROW: Mr. Jack Donovan, Mr. Carl Emmerich, Mr. D. W. Fergusan, Mr. Arthur Froemke. BOTTOM ROW: Miss Verna Mackie, Miss Kittie Moss, Miss Evelyn Novy, Mr. Peter Vike, Jr.

"Viking News" photographer, Mr. Ovrebo, has his trusty camera loaded and ready to shoot.

Mr. Dafoe is loaded down with the tools of his trade as he plays a part in the faculty skit in the Viking Vanities. That's Mr. Emmerich lounging in the background

Mr. Robert Bruhschwein

Mr. Arthur Dafoe

Mr. James Lade

supervisor.

Mr. Marvin Lergas

Division of Science and Math

Mr. Robert Bruhschwein, B.S., and Mr. Arthur Dafoe, B.S., joined the STC faculty this year. They teach classes in science and mathematics. Mr. Leonhardt M. Gunsch, M.S., is a College Laboratory School science supervisor.

Mr. James G. Lade, M.S., teaches classes in science. Biology department head, Mr. Marvin A. Leras, M.S., also oversees the Ritchie Memorial Camp during the summer quarter. Mr. Roger R. Ludwig, M.S., is Junior High Principal and College Laboratory. School

High Principal and College Laboratory School

Rhoades, M.S., is head of the science depart-

Specializing in mathematics is Mr. James O'Connell, M.A., Mr. Gerhard Ovrebo, M.S., teaches physics and mathematics. Mr. Louis D.

of Vital Importance in Age of Satellites

With the increasing attention paid to satellites and artificial moons, the division of science and mathematics plays a role of growing importance in today's education.

The major aims of the division of science and mathematics are to give students a first-hand understanding of the laws governing our material universe and an ability to work intelligently with these laws to accomplish desired ends and to increase ability to effectively teach the sciences to others. The department accomplishes its aims through a carefully planned and balanced program of lecture courses and laboratory courses.

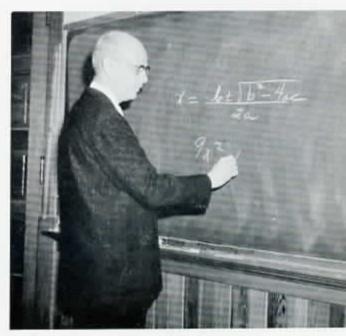

This division offers a composite major, major, minor or sequence There were thirty students majoring or minoring this year.

Thallophyta or Bryophyta?

"Dusty" dusting his analytic balance

I don't see why you students con't get the answer. All you do is.

Mr. Roger Ludwig

Mr. James O'Connell

Mr. Gerhard Ovrebo

Mr. Louis D. Rhoades

Top to Bottom: Dr. Wilbur Keeling, Mr. William F. Keinath, Jr., Mr. George Kennedy, Jr., Dr. Robert Talbott.

Patriotism, Good Citizenship - Aim of Social Science Department

Dr. Wilbur Keeling, D.Ed., is head of the social science department. William F. Kenath, Jr., M.A., teaches classes in history and geography in the Laboratory School and the college. He also acts as a social science supervisor. Geographer, George M. Kennedy, Jr., M.A., is head of the geography department. Dr. Robert Talbott, Ph.D., a 1959 addition to the faculty, teaches classes in social science. Miss Thilda Vangstad, M.A., is the principal of the Laboratory School and is a social science supervisor.

Some of the objectives of the division of social studies are to understand and promote democracy; better world understanding and a sense of patriotism and good citizenship through study of history, geography, and economics; to develop appreciation of our social heritage; to lay bases for tolerance and insight into social values; and to gain skill in use of materials for sifting evidence and drawing conclusions.

Instructors and administrators in the field of social science recognize the students' need for the ability to organize and handle some of the tangible

The social science department offers a major, a minor, or a sequence.

Elementary, my dear students—this is the United States.

A or F? Dr. Talbott's grade book holds the answer.

Registrar and Secretaries Are Integral Parts of Campus

Bernice Willson, secretary to the Dean of Men, searches in the files for a student's placement papers.

College Bookstore Custodian, Sigrid Ovrebo, makes change for one of the many students who keep her " on the Registrar and business manager, Adolph Soroos, M.S., is a very busy man. He is the one who keeps STC "out of the red" and who keeps the records. He lets STC students know where they stand in regard to such vital things as credits, marks, and honor points. Mr. Soroos is also vitally interested in the proposed student union and does much work on it.

Mr. Adolph Soroos a busy man.

Claire McTavish, Assistant to the Registror, prepares to type a letter in her usual efficient manner.

Secretary to the President, Ellen Kienitz, takes a letter from her boss, Dr. Lokken.

Cooks and Janitors Keep Students Happy

"Grillology" is every STC student's favorite subject, and the main reason is the good food available for such a small price in the "Grill." Chief cook and bottlewasher, Mrs. George Ruhland, keeps things running smoothly and sees to it that every guy and gal gets his fill. From early morning to late afternoon, she and her assistants "slave away" to keep the students happy.

Left to Right: Elsie Sorby, Helen Geisler, Mrs. George Ruhland, Amelia Holland.

"Everybody's friends" —No better statement could be made about STC's janitorial staff. Anything from a hammer to putting up a string of lights-they're there to lend a helping hand. The resounding laugh of head janitor, Ed Collins, is easily recognized by every STC'er. Why do STC's halls have that constant sparkle?—Because Mr. Collins and his staff keep them that way.

Left to Right: Sebar Odegaard, Albert Potratz, George Harris, Ed Collins, Chris Jensen, Jim Giles, Mrs. Eileen Galhoff, Mrs. John Raveling.

Student Council Prexy -An Industrious Man

The busiest and most industrious student on campus is student council president, Howard Gusaas A senior from Litchville, Howard was the near unanimous choice of the student body for the biggest job at STC. He successfully guided the student council through a year marked by many new innovations.

If the students ever had a problem, Howard was a sympathetic listener and brought it before the council. Fairness and open-mindness were his bywords, and the welfare of the students was always uppermost in his mind. Besides being the guiding influence of the council, Howard had time to major in mathematics and minor in physics and commerce. He is a vet and a member of the Hespies.

Books, Books, and more Books!

Howard and "his Rochelle" take time out for coffee in the "Grill."

Howard, expostulating at one of the numerous convos over which he presided.

Prexy Gusaas, posting the sign for the weekly Tuesday noon meeting of the council.

Student Council Guides STC Affairs

Student-faculty intermediaries—FRONT ROW: Howard Gusaas, Murriel Neys, Miss Lena Vangstad, Mr. R. C. Gillund, Jeanette Schoock, Jerry Pederson, BACK ROW: Myron Overby, Diane Pederson, Mary Lou Ertelt, Allan Olson.

Governing body of STC, the student council, headed by Howard Gusaas, was very active on campus.

To act as an intermediary between students and faculty is its main aim. The student council has representatives on various student-faculty committees; among these are the extra-curricular affairs committee, athletic council, the convocation and assembly committee, and the student health committee.

It has included among its projects the posting and up-keep of billboards along Highway 94 in order to publicize STC and the sponsoring of busses to out-af-town games. It has also done considerable work on the proposed student union.

The student council sponsors the Valentine Semiformal, the Spring Formal, and annual dance after the Jamestown game. It also gives financial backing to Homecoming activities. It contributes maney toward cheerleaders' uniforms and to the SEA's annual convention trip, plus many other worthy causes. It has, in partnership with the Association of Women Students, purchased the hi-fi set in the Rec Room and regularly contributes toward its upkeep and the purchasing of records.

The council sponsors many convocations and is responsible for the selection of Viking Pilot and Homecoming king and queen candidates.

It concerns itself with any problems which the students have.

Last spring, after a vigorous election, the following officers were elected: Howard Gusaas, president; Jerry Pederson, vice-president; Murriel Neys, secretary; and Jeanette Schaack, treasurer. Class representatives are: Mary Lou Ertelt, seniors; Diane Pederson, juniors; Allan Olson, sophomores; and Myron Overby, freshmen. Miss Lena Vangstad and Mr. R. C. Gillund are the student council advisors.

Officers, Murriel, Jerry, Howard, and Jeanette, stop in the hall to talk over council business.

Class representatives, Myron and Mary Lou, note the student council sign, while Al and Diane "shoot the breeze."

AWS Unites, Governs College Women Students

All STC women students are automatically members of the Association of Women Students.

The AWS acquaints women students with the Big-Little Sister service and Off-Campus Club and entertains them with the Big-Little Sister Party, teas, the Mistletoe Formal, the Formal Spring Banquet, and the Summer Formal.

Along with the student council, it purchased the hi-fi set in the Rec Room, and contributes to its up-keep and the purchasing of new records. The AWS also purchased the king's and queen's crowns for the homecoming activities. It maintains equipment for serving food, which is available to any organization on the campus. Each spring the AWS sponsors the election of the most outstanding woman student of the year.

Because of the size of this organization, a board is elected to take care of the interests of women students. This year's board was: Joan Kruschwitz, president; Carol Burvee, secretary; Diane Pederson, treasurer; Sylvia Salwei, publicity chairman; Bonnie Sheldon, soctal chairman; Dorothy Cheatley, East Hall; Irene Simonsan, West Hall; Berdelle Mumm, Euclid Hall; Mary Lou Ertelt and Ramona Hruby, local girls; and Pauline Daub and Joann Murdock, off-campus girls. Miss Helen Movius is the advisor for this group.

Fighters for the women's cause—FRONT ROW: Bonnie Sheldon, Carol Burvee, Joan Kruschwitz, Diane Pederson, Sylvia Salwei, Dorothy Cheatley. BACK ROW: Ramona Hruby, Joann Murdock, Irene Simonson, Mary Lou Ertelt, Pauline Daub. Not Pictured: Berdelle Mumm.

Officers, Joan, Diane, and Carol, post advertisement for the AWS-sponsored Mistletoe Formal.

Social and publicity chairmen, Bonnie and Sylvia, and campus representatives, Irene and Dorothy, look over the list of coming events in the "Viking News."

Off-campus and local representatives, Joann, Ramona, Mary Lou, and Pauline, prepare to enter Miss Movius's office for another board meeting.

Dorm Council, Proctors, Housemothers Guide Dormitory Students

Dorm Council-Beverly Hatter, Noncy Workman, Delphine Lenzen, Dorothy Cheatley, Mary Ganser, Irene Simonson.

To act as the governing body for the girls who live in East Hall and West Hall is the purpose of the Dorm Council. Throughout the year, it has helped the girls to plan many activities.

During homecoming, both East and West Halls' exteriors were gaily decorated. Also, in the fall, the dorm freshmen gave all of the upperclassmen a Halloween party. The upperclassmen retaliated with a return party later in the year.

A gay Christmas smorgasbord and Christmas party made the yule season at the dorm very enjoyable. In the spring, the girls sponsored an open house for friends and relatives.

Beverly Hatter, president; Nancy Workman, vice-president; Mary Ganser, secretary; Delphine Lenzen, treasurer; Dorothy Cheatley, East Hall representative; and Irene Simonson, West Hall representative, along with the housemothers, Mrs. Ora Hedberg and Mrs. Mary Petterson, all helped to make this another happy and enjoyable year for the dorm girls.

Boys' dorm proctors, Gene Walby and Mike Vanyo, stop in the hall to discuss their problems.

Mrs. Ora Hedberg, East Hall housemother, receives a telephone call for one of the girls.

